Re: U.S. Patent Entitled GROUT INJECTING/STRUCTURE ANCHORING SYSTEM
Patent No.: 6,971,821 B1
Issue Date: December 6, 2005
Ref. Nos.: 75952.102

Informational:	The Original Letters Patent is enclosed. Safeguard this document.
-----------------------	--

Dear Ramzy and Patricia:

Your Patent is Enclosed

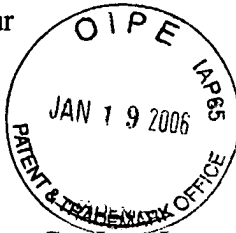

We are pleased to enclose United States Letters Patent No. 6,971,821 dated December 6, 2005 entitled GROUT INJECTING/STRUCTURE ANCHORING SYSTEM.

Term and Maintenance Fees

The patent will remain in force until March 21, 2023 as long as taxes called "maintenance fees" are paid when due. The fees are due as follows:

3-1/2 years from the issue date:	June 6, 2009
7-1/2 years from the issue date:	June 6, 2013
11-1/2 years from the issue date:	June 6, 2017

Unless we hear from GeoJect, Inc. to the contrary, we will instruct our vendor to automatically make maintenance fee payments on your behalf. These payments will then be billed to GeoJect, Inc. for reimbursement.

Possible Printing Errors in Patent

Unless you instruct us to the contrary, we will NOT be proofing the patent. If you notice any errors in the patent that you feel are significant, please let us know. We can then prepare a Certificate of Correction for filing with the USPTO, and we will forward the certificate to you upon receipt.

Marking Products with the Patent Number

Any products that are covered by the claims of the patent should now be marked "U.S. Patent No. 6,971,821" or some equivalent.

Failure to give notice of the issued patent in this way may preclude an award of damages to the patentee in any action for infringement of the patent. Rather, damages will only be available from the time that the infringer has notice of the patent.

Additionally, you should be aware that failure to enforce your patent rights against a known infringer could result in partial or total forfeiture of the patent rights.

Again, we are pleased to send this Letters Patent to you, and look forward to being of continued service. We are also enclosing a copy of the Issue Notification previously sent to us by the USPTO. Please call us if you have any questions about the patent, its term, the payment of maintenance fees, or other matters.

Very truly yours,

John E. Burke
